Bird People, Penguin Patrol

The investigative team was asked by Police Scotland to search through the seized hard-drive to find evidence of John Doe possessing bird pictures.

Description of Recovered / Examined Items

We were provided with a physical HDD - Seagate Barracuda 7200RPM, 40GB drive. The drive presented was in good condition and spun up as expected.

Investigative Methodology

Identification

The Identification stage of this investigation was the suspicion of John Doe committing bird abuse and possessing bird pictures on his computer. The hard-drive was seized before a network logger could be installed to monitor his searches live.

Acquisition

The Acquisition stage of this investigation was the raid and subsequent finding of the hard-drive in John Doe's house. ACPO guidelines were followed in the removal of the device, ensuring that the data on the hard-drive was not altered in anyway.

Preservation

The Preservation stage of this investigation involved the safe copying of the hard-drive to abide by the ACPO guidelines. An image of the seized hard-drive was created so the original data on the original hard-drive would not be changed during the investigative process. To validate that copy hard-drive was identical to the original hard-drive a hash sum of the copy was created immediately using md5 hashing. The hash sum of the copy hard-drive would be checked throughout the investigation to see if the copy data had been altered. The copy hard-drive was also made to be "read only" so no data could be added to the hard-drive helping to keep the authenticity of the copy.

Search

The searching stage of the investigation was conducted with many tools on the hard-drive copy, such as Autopsy, Testdisk, foremost, etc. Specific files, such as web history records, where searched for by mounting the copy hard-drive to the Investigators computer and manually looking for them. Some of tools, such as Autopsy, was used to recover deleted files and other pieces of information.

Analysis

After the explicit materials had been found, further analysis was conducted on them to find out more valuable information. Explicit images were checked for meta-data and hidden information, emails were analysed for bird pictures and deleted files contained evidence of illegal materials.

Reconstruction

To reconstruct the information found a timeline was used. This aided the investigation by showing the course of actions the John Doe account had taken in viewing and receiving these explicit images. The timeline also helps summarise all the evidence found in the investigation.

Images

Using the Linux system, we ran a command called Foremost on the disk image of John Doe's computer hard drive. The command was used to retrieve all image files on the drive. As the majority of the images were windows assets the investigators needed to sort through the files in the attempt to locate any case related material. Directly extracting the image files does not let us know where on the disk they were located on the disk but with the use of Metacam, another Linux tool, the investigators well able to identify what camera the case related images were taken with and when the images was taken.

Two cameras were identified in the Metacam results: The Canon EOS-IDS with the serial number 000136574 and the Canon powershot SD100. Another result identified was Adobe Photoshop a common image editing program.

Virus Scan

The “Trojan Defense” is a commonly used defense that claims that a virus did all of the incriminating acts. As a Precaution the investigators scanned the hard-drive copy using ClamAV, a multiplatform virus scanner. The scanner found 3 suspected malicious files within the hard-drive, however this was double checked by using a website called “Virus Total”, that checks the files against many different virus scanners. The files came up negative for every scanner except ClamAV letting the investigative team know that the hard-drive copy did not have any malware on it.

Steganography

Investigators decided to check if any of the images on the John Doe account had hidden data within. Using all of the images of birds the investigator went one by one checking for hidden info using a steganography tool called JP hide and seek. No hidden information was found from this search.

Partition Searching

There was a suspicion that the hard-drive was missing a partition, which could have potential evidence on it. A tool named TestDisk was used to check if the hard-drive was missing anything. Testdisk found that a partition on the John Doe hard-drive had been deleted and it contained many pictures of birds. The deleted partition was restored as shown below. The deleted partition show that the person behind the John Doe account was trying to delete evidence as to not be caught since deleting a partition is a rather hard task.

Virtual Machine

As part of the Investigation a Virtual Machine of the hard-drive copy was created to give context to the John Doe account. Tools that were used to create this Virtual Machine include Pro Discover and VMware Workstation. However John Doe's account could be logged into directly since the operating system was corrupt/incomplete, but with a fresh install of Windows XP and creation of an admin account all the files from all of the accounts on the hard-drive copy were recovered and could be viewed.

From the figures it is clear this is the John Doe account as it has the same files as the mount version. All files were able to be accessed through this virtual machine.

The Investigative team tried remaking the Virtual machine using the hard-drive copy with the recovered partitions but they were met by blue screens and errors.

Browser Searching

John Doe's account has two browsers installed on it, being Internet Explorer and Mozilla firefox, with his email account being on Mozilla Thunderbird. Investigation of these browsers was critical to see if John Doe's account had been distributing explicit content online and where the account found these images. The main pieces of informations Investigators were

Some other web History files were found in three “MSHist...” within the History IE5 folder, they mostly consisted of files accessed by the John Doe account of bird pictures. This shows specific times that the person using the John Doe account was accessing the explicit pictures.

These other web history files were found in /Documents and Settings/johndoe/Local Settings/History/History.IE5 in the several MShist... folders. Full results can be found in Appendix B: Internet Explorer

Web cache was made readable with Pasco, however no useful information was found in this file, other than sites related to installing firefox and microsoft sites.

Mozilla Firefox:

The John Doe account also had Mozilla Firefox installed, the web history file is stored in a different location and in a different format so tools used before cannot be used here. The web history file is found within the Mozilla file and is called history.dat. A tool called Mozilla History View which allowed the investigators to view the history.

Checking some of these links is fruitless since the links from 2005 are no longer active so a website called “The Wayback Machine” was used to check the links for explicit content. Some of the links contain disturbing content about birds and even online stores that seem to be the source of some of the images found on the John Doe account.

This link is unfortunately dead, but reading the link can reveal information such “Movies-Bird-Safari--Bird-Watcher’s-Paradise-VIDEOS” show that the John Doe account was accessing explicit material. Another interesting aspect of the link is the “pcd/7107298” which is suspected to be the product name, and is also the name of a bird picture found in /Documents and Settings/johndoe/My Documents/My Pictures of the John Doe account.

The matching file name and picture to the product name.

FACILITIES

CHICKS

Young chicks can be maintained in a variety of suitable facilities. A small portable pen, 12 feet long, 4 feet wide and 2 foot high can be adequate for a number of chicks. The pen is placed on short cut grass and moved daily. Chicks are brought out to the pen after the temperature reaches above 60 F and the sun is shining. Birds can be maintained in this type of facility until the temperature drops or until weather is prohibitive. Include some type of shade and wind break as young birds are sensitive to extreme sun and wind.

Young birds should be brought indoors in the evening and maintained in a heated environment until at least 2 to 3 months of age. Temperature in indoor shelters should be maintained at least 65 F and enough room to allow the birds to exercise should be provided. In areas where weather is more severe, this period may need to be extended.

Do not provide feed at night but available water is acceptable. Feed the young birds as outlined in CARE OF YOUNG BIRDS section, prior to turning them out in the morning.

JUVENILES

A site containing information about young birds, accessed using the Wayback Machine website to the time the John Doe account accessed it.

A deleted history.dat file was found using Autopsy but it contained the same information as the one shown above. This however could show that the person behind the John Doe account was trying to delete evidence.

Mozilla cookies can be read using a tool called Galleta, the file was found in the Mozilla directory as a “cookies.txt”. The data collected is odd and seems to be incomplete, there is evidence in the files suggesting that a cookie manager was used, which could have corrupted/deleted revealing cookies.

Several site related to Microsoft was accessed on Mozilla Firefox.

02/02/2005 2:11:46 PM TO 02/02/2005 4:53:13 PM

The John Doe account used Mozilla firefox in this time to search for many things, including bird images and many bird related sites. Books on amazon on birds were accessed and hobby sites for birds were viewed. Between 2:18:13 PM and 2:43:46 PM he visited a list of images in his file explorer stored within his ‘My Pictures’ folder.

At 12:19:07 PM to 12:20:20 PM John Doe visited his Mozilla Firefox cookies and bookmarks files, it may be concluded that he deleted those files at this time.

At 12:22:51 John Doe accessed a file named “aggressive_song.wav” which was stored on an external drive identified as the E drive. At 14:49:29 in a subfolder called ‘birds’ JohnDoe visited a file names “killdeer.jpg” which was also in the external drive identified as the E drive.

John Doe visited the a list bird images stored in a variety of locations ranging from the Desktop to folders in ‘My Documents’. One of the files John visited (ready2fledge.jpg) was stored in the Bob account’s documents.

At 15:49:39 John Doe visited a file named “birdwatching.doc” in the C drive. Later at 15:51:54 John Doe visited his external E drive to access a file named “BookList.doc” within the ‘birds’ folder. Following this at 15:52:01 John Doe visited a file names “BIRDINGGUIDE.PDF” stored within the ‘birds’ folder on the external E drive.

03/02/2005 12:21:40 PM TO 03/02/2005 3:03:54 PM

During this time the John Doe account used Mozilla Firefox to search for bird pictures on google and a disturbing search for chick sex.

09/02/2005 08:00:54 AM TO 09/02/2005 11:28:00 AM

More bird related content was accessed from the files of the John Doe account.

09/02/2005 11:27:00 AM TO 09/02/2005 11:27:48 AM

In this time the John Doe account used Mozilla Firefox to search and then download a bird screensaver.

09/02/2005 11:27:13 AM TO 09/02/2005 4:28:03 PM

Many images of birds where added to the web cache for Mozilla Firefox with some other harmless items.

09/02/2005 11:28:00 AM TO 09/02/2005 5:06:28 PM

At 11:28:00 John Doe visited a “birds.zip” file, it is assumed this is a zip of the folder located in the external drive that was identified as the E drive.

Later at 17:06:28 John Doe visited an external drive, this may be a different drive from before as it is identified as the F drive, from that drive a file named “AlmondMarshGreatBlueHeronStalling.jpg” was visited.

09/02/2005 12:08:01 PM

Several emails were sent to John Doe’s email at Mozilla thunderbird from Ben Forbes (ben@example.com) and Bird Fancier (mailinglist@birds@example.com). These emails contained info about birds and even bird pictures from Ben Forbes.

Conclusions

From this Investigation it is clear that the John Doe account on the hard-drive found in his possession had illegal bird pictures on it. Malware scans confirmed that the hard-drive was not infected with any viruses, removing the possibility of the Trojan Defence being used by the defendant. Using tools like foremost and Metacam it was found that some of the images on the hard-drive were taken by the cameras found in John Doe’s possession and some had been edited on the computer. Many deleted files were found containing information about birds and bird pictures showing that the user of the account had tried to remove the evidence. Furthermore, a deleted partition of the hard-drive was found and recovered using TestDisk, this partition contained many bird pictures on it. John Doe’s personal email account had been receiving bird images and related content from various people, which were saved onto his machine. The account had many searches and downloads related to birds, showing that the person using the machine was actively searching for illegal material. Reading through computer logs it was clear that the John Doe account was accessing these images regularly which can be seen through the timeline.

Through this investigation it is clear that John Doe possessed many illegal images and there is evidence to suggest that he even created the illegal material. There were clear signs that the user of the John Doe account tried to delete the incriminating evidence through standard deleted files and deleted partition, which is rather hard to accidentally do.

Team member’s contributions

Thomas MacKinnon (1704872): I did the browser investigation and write up of the data found, I also did the email investigation and write up. I did the investigation into the partitions, finding and recovering the deleted one and doing the write up. I did a steganography search on the images of birds and wrote it up, I conducted and wrote up the malware scan and wrote up the Investigative methodology. I also made the really nice police badge.

Daniel Neville (1703454): I researched and got the virtual machine working and conducted the investigation on it providing the evidence required for the report, I retrieved the images and from the image and collected metadata from them, I helped to collect various bits of evidence for the report and helped to write the report.

Kacper Rak (1701601): I worked on manually finding the case related images and wrote up the timeline from the results of the browser analysis and computer logs. I did the write up of the Metacam and Foremost section of the report listing the results. I formatted the report and inserted and documented appendix A images.
